
Every model is fitted on the training split only; the validation split drives early stopping and RGF's temperature; the test split is used once per seed.